Subject FAR Case 2001-014

To Whom It May Concern::

I am writing to express my opposition to the Federal Acquisition Regulatory Council's proposal to repeal the Clinton administration's rules on federal contractor responsibility. The rules require contracting officers to look at a company's record of complying with the law in deciding whether the company is a "responsible contractor" eligible to receive a federal contract.

A company's record of complying with the law should be an important factor in making government contracting decisions. Companies with track records of discriminating against women, people of color, people with disabilities or others in violation of our civil rights laws shouldn't be rewarded with lucrative federal contracts. Instead, those contracts should go to responsible, law-abiding companies that respect their obligations under the law.

I urge the FAR Council not to repeal the contractor responsibility rules and to let the rules go into effect without further delay.

When are you going to wake up and just reward the companies who are working for all people!!!! The way it's done history just keep repeating itself, and only the rich and wicked people are rewarded with money. But God will have the last say. Big companies did give you money to help you run for president, so you assumed that you have to reward them, but member it was the true working people who trusted you and gave you there vote.

Sincerely,
Donza Bush
